

High efficiency + low overhead = profitable practice.

Cromwell Criminal Practice Management is the affordable, easy-to-use web-based software that equips solicitors to save time, save money, and ultimately save their practice.

Save time by freeing up staff.

In the current system of fixed fees, you need to maximize your billable time to stay in business. We make working life easier by taking away the bulk of administrative tasks, so your practice can become efficient, profitable and compliant.

- Instantly and securely access files and data from your mobile device when you need to be briefed on surprise cases. With information stored at your fingertips, unexpected court events don't have to disrupt your—and your staff's—workflow.
- Produce the letters you need instantly instead of spending valuable time dictating, typing and printing them. Log in from court and enter each outcome into the system as it happens. With more than 200,000 combinations, we offer you more pre-written letters than any other software.
- Make last-minute calendar changes to your court and police station diaries, check staff availability, and re-assign tasks. With the entire practice sharing one online calendar, everyone is always on the same page.
- Transform billing from a full-time job into a simple daily task. Enter times and outcomes as you go; we'll predict the category of claim and provide codes for you to check.
- Track profitability with instant management reports that focus on a particular office, class of work, or fee earner. You can even design custom reports, download raw data for analysis, and view an overall summary of your practice.

No need to install hardware or make time for formal training sessions—switch instantly to an intuitive, easy-to-use online software that works on your computer, tablet and smart phone.

Expand and adapt quickly: If you merge or grow your practice, we can install Cromwell Criminal Practice Management in another location within an hour of receiving instructions.

Save money by reducing overhead.

Criminal defence work is under-funded and solicitors are constantly under threat of pay cuts. Believing that good legal aid is essential, we found areas to automate so that you can cut your overhead and thrive whilst doing what you do best.

- Save money on file storage, archiving and retrieval. We give you full use of our scan-and-store facility so you can upload your files securely to the web.
- Expand your practice without increasing your office space by collaborating remotely and working from anywhere.
- Reserve letterhead and toner for special occasions by performing the bulk of your work digitally.
- Pay fewer staff for a higher quality of work by reducing the need for repetitive administrative tasks.
- Stop purchasing and leasing hardware in exchange for a simple monthly subscription fee that you can cancel anytime.
- Save on mail, fax and phone costs by communicating instantly online.
- Eliminate the need for expensive IT support with intuitive software that anyone can use. (If you need help getting started, training is free.)
- Pay only for registered duty solicitors. Personal assistants, trainees and caseworkers use the software at no charge.

Cromwell Criminal Practice Management is not only based on the latest innovations in software development, but it's also constantly improving it at no charge to you.

Stay compliant. Save your practice.

Compliance is essential but usually requires numerous of hours of additional work. Cromwell Criminal Practice Management takes the tedium out of regulation, making it simple to stay on top of case compliance, win bids and earn profits.

- Automatically check your work with built-in compliance indicators and performance guides.
- Produce proper documentation with just a few clicks.
